

~ Native Farming ~ From One Generation to the Next

Come Join Us!

There will be an educational workshop held in Pena Blanca for Native farmers, new and beginning farmers, and those wanting to learn more about the Native way of farming.

July 20th (Friday), 12:00 – 5:00.....“A Lasting Legacy of Native Farming”

- Begin by getting to better know one another as we share a noon meal.
- Elders share their Native culture of raising crops and livestock.
- Discussions about young Native Americans continuing the Pueblo farming culture.
- Communicating across the generations.
- The “Four Pillars” of legacy and succession planning.

July 21st (Saturday), 9:30 – 1:30.....“The Business Aspects of Farming”

- What records do I need to keep? How should I keep those records?
- How can crop insurance help me manage the risks you face?
- What is a business plan? How do I complete a business plan?

To Register Please Contact

- Samuel Suina at 505-231-0616 or sksuina@yahoo.com

Sponsors

There will be no registration fee, since the workshop is sponsored by the following groups.

